

Pope Francis Unable to Answer Little Girl's Question about Sin

January 19, 2015

Pope Francis, if you are reading this, here is that answer you said was unknowable.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.” John 3:3 (KJV)

He is called the “vicar of Christ”, and he rules over the world’s 1.3 billion Catholics. The Vatican says that when he speaks on his throne, Ex Cathedra, that the words coming out of his mouth are infallible, as if God Himself was speaking. On his recent trip in Manila, a little girl asked the Pope a pretty simple question.

Do not be fooled by the Pope’s flowery answer to the little girl’s question. He ducked it because the Bible teaches something that is against Roman Catholic doctrine.

Glyzelle Palomar wept as she asked the Pope: “Many children get involved in drugs and prostitution. Why does God allow these things to happen to us? The children are not guilty of anything.”

The pontiff, cementing his reputation as a champion of the poor and oppressed, took the 12-year-old in his arms to comfort her. He was so touched by the girl’s appeal that he abandoned his pre-prepared speech in English and instead responded to the child in Spanish, his native language.

Visibly moved, the Pope said: “She is the only one who has put forward a question for which there is no answer and she was not even able to express it in words but rather in tears.”

The question that the little girl asked the Pope was indeed poignant, but there is an answer to it. A frighteningly simple answer actually. But you would only know that answer if you read and believed what is written in the pages of the bible.

Pope Francis, if you are reading this, here is that answer you said was unknowable. The reason why “many children get involved in drugs and prostitution” is because our first parents, Adam and Eve, sinned and brought down a curse both on the human race and the physical earth. All of us have been created, not in God’s image, but in fallen Adam’s image as we read in Genesis 5:3”

“And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and begat a son in his own likeness, after his image; and called his name Seth:” Genesis 5:3 (KJV)

Why do we sin? Because we are sinners, created in the image of a fallen sinner, Adam. This is why, Pope Francis, that Jesus tells us in John 3 that our first birth is bad, and we need a “new birth”, we need to become born again:

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.” John 3:3 (KJV)

The bible goes on to say that only when someone become born again do they receive the image of God:

“Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him:” Colossians 3:9,10 (KJV)

Why didn’t you tell the little girl that simple, bible truth, Pope Francis? Her yearning soul was crying out for truth from God’s word, and instead you told her that here question was “unable to be answered”. Do you not know the bible?

And if you know it, do you not believe it? Or did you not tell her because the bible flies in the face of Roman Catholic teachings?

Why does God allow suffering? ...Because ...
